

MOON

Minimal stone look ceramic tiles for interior floors

Novoceram, French ceramics manufacturer since 1863, presents a complete collection for interior and exterior flooring in colored in body porcelain stoneware intended for large architectural projects in heavily stressed.

PRESS RELEASE

Moon is a collection of colored in body porcelain tiles by Novoceram, French ceramics manufacturer since 1863, designed for interior floor coverings.

The discreet elegance of Moon is a subtle alchemy of elements – a delicately matt surface, both uniform and with a wealth of small details which reveals its richness gradually as you move away.

Moon is a minimal natural looking stone, characterized by a range of four colors and by a surface designed to meet the needs of commercial and residential contemporary architecture, both from the point of view of technical and aesthetic. Inspired by the stone, has a surface generally homogeneous but rich in micro details, a unique charm and understated elegance. As the stone, the protagonist of the great Renaissance architecture, Moon is aimed at large architectural projects heavily stressed.

Moon is available in two colors: Fer, gray, Anthracite, black and available in 60x60cm rectified, will meet the aesthetic and technical requirements of major projects.
