PRESS RELEASE

Novoceram, french ceramics manufacturer since 1863, proposes a broad selection of non-slip Porcelain Stoneware floors for outdoor. Eleven collections to meet all possible stylistic requirements: from wood to stone, from concrete to resin, as well as laying system with 2cm thick tiles, designed for both traditional and floating tiling..

As far as terrace and garden are concerned, porcelain stoneware floors offer many technical and aesthetic advantages. Its lack of porosity makes it extremely weatherproof, it doesn't freeze and doesn't fear any temperature change. Easy to maintain, it proves to be incredibly resistant to external factors, such as shocks, scratches, chemicals and offers many essential advantages for this intended use: great foot-traffic resistance, durability, dimensional stability and anti-slip surface.

Another great advantage of Novoceram porcelain stoneware floor for outdoor is the wide range of aesthetic solutions, which is perfectly suitable for any style of living, whether classic or contemporary. The Stone Effect floors Geo, Cast, Icône and Orage chic and authentic, and ceramic wood Noa, elegant and evergreen, are glaring examples. For a modern outcome instead, Azimut, a concrete effect covering, or Zen, a resin effect one, both offer a complete selection, for indoor and outdoor, to ensure an harmonious continuity between internal and external areas, as well as Samsara and Moon. The floor laying on the terrace can be made in a traditional way, on screed but also easily through the floating tiling System Outdoor Plus, with 2cm thick Porcelain Stoneware tiles. With the floating tiling on gravel, sand or grass (with stepping stones), without glue or joints, or even the raised installation, the tiling System Outdoor Plus by Novoceram let us completely redesign the terrace: easy to lay and replace, reusable, available in 60x60cm and 45x90cm sizes, it comes in 7 versions, meeting thereby any aesthetic taste.
